

Brusilovsky Sergei - The deputy director on science, LONIIS, St.Petersburg, Russia.
He graduated the University for Telecommunications (Russia, St.Petersburg) in 1984.
He has a Ph.D. in telecommunication science from University for Telecommunications (1994).
Subject of the dissertation: «The analysis and designing of program management of removed modules of switching digital systems».
His interests also include: System designing in scope Next Generation Network, 3G mobile networks, Fixed - mobile convergence, Value-Added services, etc.
The author more than 100 publications: scientific papers (including in a magazine IEEE communication), inventions, presentations during international and Russia conferences.

Derzhavina Vera - General Member of Scientific Staff, LONIIS, St.Petersburg, Russia.
She graduated the University for Telecommunications (Russia, St.Petersburg) in 1975.
She has a Ph.D. in telecommunication science from University for Telecommunications (1986).
Her interests include: System designing in scope Next Generation Network, 3G mobile networks, Fixed - mobile convergence, Value-Added services, etc.