

ABSTRACT:

IMS has been selected as the standard path to provide a new world of multimedia services based on IP. To offer these services, operators will have to evolve their current networks in a cost-efficient stepwise approach. The presentation will cover the foreseen steps from a mobile perspective while also reviewing some of the benefits of IMS for end-users.