

NAME: CHALI TUMELO (Ms)

EDUCATION: BSc (Hons) ELECTRONIC AND ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING, Manchester University, England July 1985.

QUALIFICATION (Other) MEIZ (Member of Engineering Institute of Zambia), Certificates in Business Planning, Marketing, Finance and Management skills.

PROFESSIONAL: Certificates in various courses attended in International Training attended Telecommunications Training Institutes in the areas of design, management, administration and operations of all Network Elements and Subsystems of a Cellular Network, other Wireless Systems and 3G Technologies.

OCCUPATION HISTORY: Currently, ITU Senior Advisor for Network Management and Development for Eastern and Southern Africa. Previously, Project Manager for study and design of remote wireless communications solutions, GSM D900 Cellular Network Administration, Maintenance and Operations Manager, CDMA Cellular Network Systems and Radio Engineer, International Computers Field Services Computer Engineer , Radio and Transmission Planning Telecommunications Engineer.

OTHER EXPERIENCE: Thorough knowledge of the world's telecommunications trends, convergence, 3G technologies and of general environment of telecommunications in Africa.

Participation in the Ministry of Science and Technology activities in Zambia as a Role Model. Active participation in the Communications industry in Zambia