

Presentation Title: Bridging the Standardization Gap

Abstract:

This presentation will provide concrete advice to developing countries on how to improve their standards readiness, participate more effectively in standards work at ITU and make the best use of standards. The presentation will also examine the public policy implications of ICT standards; address the consequences of lack of standards participation to developing countries; and describe how the ITU's Bridging the Standardization Gap project is addressing these issues.