Gamal Hegazi is a Solution architect with Alcatel-lucent Solution& Marketing with responsibilities ranging from network design & architecture, business development, Solution marketing for the Africa & middle east region focusing on IP transformation, Ultra speed broadband and new innovative service introduction.

A veteran of the ICT industry for the last 15 years, he holds a Master degree in Telecoms & information systems from University of Essex UK and BSc of Electronics from Cairo university.

Gamal has been working as a product planning manager for Nokia Networks North America and a project manager for Huawei Technologies Supervising their Middle East projects.

He has also worked with the Egyptian Cabinet information and decision support Center (IDSC) participating in the introduction of Internet service to Egypt with technical responsibilities ranging from planning to implementation of the ISP setup of the IDSC.