

Dr. Hani Elgebaly

Hani Elgebaly is Strategic Planner director with the mobility group at Intel Corp and the Chief Technology Officer of Intel/KACST Center of Excellence for Wireless Applications (CEWA).

Before this post, he used to be director of platform Architecture with the mobile platform group and chief software architect where he was responsible for wireless & mobility manageability and security software initiatives architectures for Intel mobile platform (Centrino).

Hani managed R&D engineering teams across Oregon, US and Bangalore, India. He has been with Intel for 15 years where he led multiple engineering management and lead architect positions in the Mobile platform group, Intel Architecture labs & Internet Communication Group.

He contributed to international standards in IP Telephony and Videoconferencing and represented Intel at the Internet Engineering Task Force, Telecommunication International Association, IPv6 forum, ITU-T SG16, IEEE, and other bodies. Hani has 22 issued and pending US patents and over 20 journal and conference publications.

Hani is a Senior IEEE member and received his Ph.D. degree in Computer Science from University of Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, M.S. degree in Computational Science from University of Saskatchewan, Canada, and B.S. degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering with high honors from Cairo University, Egypt.