

Emese Simon
Head of Department - Regulatory Affairs
Slovak Telecom

Emese Simon has been working in the telecommunications field since 1995. During the first years in this sector, she worked at an alternative local operator, leading the customer care and residential sales area.

Emese Simon joined the Hungarian Telecom Company, Matáv's Regulatory branch in 1998. From 2000 she became responsible for the newly set up interconnection regulatory department, preparing the regulatory strategies for a liberalized market place.

She joined Deutsche Telekom in October 2001, and her current responsibilities in Slovakia are the preparation of ST, a.s. for liberalized marketplace in compliance with regulation, developing regulatory strategies for the liberalized market.

Emese Simon has a B.A. degree from College of Trade in Budapest and an M.B.A. degree from Case Western Reserve University from Cleveland, Ohio.