

Ms. Jennifer Gilsenan

Jennifer Gilsenan currently serves as Deputy Chief of the Space Bureau at the Federal Communications Commission. Jennifer has worked on satellite and spectrum regulatory issues at the FCC for over two decades. In her current position, she manages a variety of complex satellite licensing and rulemaking proceedings in the Space Bureau involving NGSO and GSO satellite systems and other spectrum related issues. She previously held leadership positions in the FCC's former International Bureau including, Assistant Chief of the International Bureau, Deputy Chief, of the Strategic Analysis and Negotiations Division, where she managed bilateral spectrum negotiations, as well as serving as Associate Chief of the Satellite Division and Chief of the Satellite Policy Branch in the Satellite Division. Jennifer currently resides in the DC area with her husband and two kids.