

Yujie Chen

Mr. Yujie Chen currently is the senior consultant of China Academy of Information and Communications Technology (CAICT) of Ministry of Industry and Information Technology (MIIT) China. His research and business areas focus on the integration of ICT technologies (5G, Artificial Intelligence) with industry development in China, includes the e-health and aging sectors. As senior consultant of CAICT, he actively engaged in the work of CAICT-WHO collaboration center for digital health, the first digital health center in Western Pacific region, and other governmental missions for international cooperation, He previously worked at UNDP Regional Hub of Aisa and UNDP China. Mr. Yujie Chen has a MSc in Social and Public Policy from LSE.