

Muhammad Dawud

Muhammad Dawud is currently the Head of Cybersecurity Management for Maxis Berhad (CISO). Dawud has been in the cybersecurity, audit and assurance industry for more than 23 years. He has served in many different roles such as CISO, CIA (Chief Internal Auditor), IT Infrastructure Manager, Consultant, Pre-Sales, Systems Engineer and Software Engineer across various different organizations such as Intel, PricewaterhouseCoopers Malaysia, Symantec, Celcom Axiata, Robi Axiata and now Maxis Malaysia.

Dawud has a Bachelor of Computer and Information Engineering from IIUM, a Master of Business Administration from CSU, a Graduate Diploma in Education from QUT and an Advanced Cybersecurity Certificate of Achievement from Stanford. He also holds various cybersecurity certifications (CISSP, CBCP, CISM, CISA, ISO 27001 Lead Auditor) and attended various leadership courses (Data Analytics from University of Chicago Booth School of Business, Leading Through Personal Excellence from Stanford University Graduate School of Business and Accelerating Change Readiness and Agility from UC Berkeley Executive Education)

He is a traditional archery enthusiast and an avid reader committed to continuous learning and development.