

Edmar Candeia Gurjão

Graduated in Electrical Engineering from Universidade Federal da Paraíba (1996), master in Electrical Engineering from Universidade Federal da Paraíba (1999) and PhD in Electrical Engineering from Universidade Federal de Campina Grande (2003). Visiting professor at Notre Dame University (USA) in 2012. He is professor of Electrical Engineering Department at Universidade Federal de Campina Grande and in the Master Degree Program in Science and Technology in Health at Universidade Estadual da Paraíba. Experience in Electrical Engineering with emphasis in Compressed Sensing, Software Defined Radio and Signal Processing and Cybersecurity. Senior Member of IEEE and member of the Brazilian Society of Telecommunications (SBrT). Co-author of Introduction to Signal and Systems (in Portuguese) 2015, and Digital Signal Processing, Momentum Press, 2018.