

Carolien van Brunschot

Lead, Circular Electronics Partnership

Carolien van Brunschot is the Secretariat Lead of the Circular Electronics Partnership (CEP), a collaboration platform for global NGOs and businesses in the electronics sector, actively working together on the transition to a circular electronics industry.

Previously, Carolien was a Circular Economy Manager with the World Business Council for Sustainable Development (WBCSD). As such, she helped WBCSD member companies advance inclusive and sustainable business solutions for the circular economy, in particular through the development of the Circular Transition Indicators, a measurement framework for corporate circular performance. Prior to her role at WBCSD, Carolien had a career in product design and brand licensing with Philips. She holds an MBA in Sustainable Business.
