

Isabel Viera Bermúdez

Isabel Viera has worked for UNESCO since 1999. In charge of designing and implementing Communication and Information Programme in Caribbean countries, Ms. Viera is experienced in managing UNESCO projects on promoting freedom of expression, media development and knowledge society. Her portfolio include projects related to: the use of ICTs for social development, fostering communication for development at community level, media and information literacy and ICTs in Education Policy, among others.

Her academic background includes a Master degree in Communication Science and a Bachelor in Cybernetics.