

Odalis Candelaria de la Nuez Licea

Odalis Candelaria de la Nuez Licea was born on 1 February, 1971 in Bayamo, Granma, Cuba. She is graduated from the Polytechnic Superior Institute Eduardo García Delegado in 1986 in Electronic Computer Machines; she completed her Bachelor's Degree in Education, in computer science specialty, and later attained the title of Master in New Technologies for Education. She has participated in several scientific conferences and different events related to Information and Communication Technologies. She began her work in the Central Palace of Computing and Electronics and is currently an instructor at the center where she teaches courses for the education of children, young people and adults, circles of interest and workshops linked to work with sectors of the population (seniors and people with disabilities).