

Yamilé González Turcás

Yamilé González Turcás was born on 23 August, 1969 in Palma Soriano, Santiago de Cuba, Cuba. She is graduated in Automatic Control Engineering and later MSc. in New Technology for Education. She has taken a large number of courses and diplomas related to computing, electronics and information and communication technologies; she has participated in several events related to these topics. She has served in various positions in the province; since 2008 she is the provincial director of the Joven Club in Santiago de Cuba. During her tenure, she has received a large number of recognitions for her continuous work in the development of the city and the work with the different sectors of society.