

Ana Veneroso is Brazilian, Economist, graduated by Univesidade Catolica de Brasília, Specialist on Strategic Management and Innovation, Master in International Relations Law and attending a Political Science PhD Program at the University Institute of Lisbon.

Ana Veneroso has 23 years of experience in the United Nations system. She has worked in the Brazilian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and has been working for the International Telecommunication Union for 19 years. Currently, at ITU, Ana Veneroso coordinates training activities in the region, supports the implementation of cooperation projects and coordinates digital inclusion activities.