

BIOGRAPHIE Aminata NIANG

After doing the preparatory classes in Maths, Physics and Engineering Science, Ms. Aminata NIANG integrated The Multinational Telecommunications School of Dakar, Senegal from where she graduated as a Telecommunications Design Engineer.

Mrs. Aminata worked for the radio and optimization design department for the historic operator Orange before joining the Ministry of Digital Economy and Telecommunications of Senegal where she currently holds the position of Head of the Radioelectrical Resources Office.

Mrs. Aminata has participated since 2015 in the work of the International Telecommunication Union.

She is currently Vice-Rapporteurs for Q1 / 1, Q1 / 2 and Q7 / 2 on "Strategies and policies concerning human exposure to electromagnetic fields".