

Mr Alasdair Grant, Head of Asia, GSMA

Alasdair Grant is the Head of Asia for GSMA. He has more than 20 years' experience in the communications sector, for the past 15 years operating his own telecommunications strategy consultancy and holding Hong-Kong based "head of Asia" corporate development and public policy roles for major global operators. He is an experienced reform advocate and regulatory expert, and is the founding editor of Australian Telecommunications Regulation, the leading text in its field. Alasdair has degrees in Law and Literature from the University of Sydney.