Achia Nila

Mrs.Achia Nila is the founder, Women In Digital - Empowerment through Technology. As an skilled professional of digital production; she has set remarkable foot print in the emerging technology market of Bangladesh.

Mrs.Achia Nila graduated from United International University on Computer Science and engineering. Later on, she received her M.Sc on computer science and engineering from Daffodil International University.

She has served in some of the internationally recognized organizations such as Dell, Microsoft, HP, Epson, Colgate, HillsPet, J&J, HTC, HSBC, Vodafone, Sony, Unilever, Betfair and Nokia etc. As a local product she successfully launched Maya apa Mobile application. She specialises on IT product development (like, web, mobile app and game) and Product management, project management, team lead etc.

Recently she has join as an international IT expert for International Telecommunication Union. She is the first women in Bangladesh who selected for this honorable position.

As a leading technological professional, Mrs Achia Nila is obviously one of the inspiring role models for women in engineering education sector of Bangladesh.