

CV of Yasuhiko KAWASUMI (Mr.)

Yasuhiko Kawasumi is one of the Vice Chairs of ITU-D SG1 (ITU is the leading UN agency for information and communication technology issues: <http://www.itu.int>). He is Special Advisor to the ITU Association of Japan <http://www.ituaj.jp/>. He participated in projects funded by Asia-Pacific Telecommunity (APT) <http://www.apr.int/> in Nepal, Marshall Islands, Micronesia and Bhutan. He started his business carrier at telecommunication operator Kokusai Denshin Denwa Co. Ltd (KDD). in 1961 after graduating from KEIO University. He experienced the construction of Transpacific Submarine Cable No.1, its maintenance and operation, satellite systems, network management. He attended ITU's various conferences and meetings. He participated in Maitland Commission meetings as advisor to Dr. Koji Kobayashi (then NEC Chairman) in Arusha (Tanzania) and Bali (Indonesia) in 1984. He was appointed as rapporteur of the Focus Group on "New Technologies for Rural Communications" of ITU-D Study Group 2 in 1999 and submitted the final report on "New Technologies for Rural Applications" in 2001. He has been the rapporteur for the Question of ITU SG2 "Telecommunications/ICTs for Rural and Remote Areas" for the three study cycles, i.e. 2002-2006, 2006-2010 and 2010-2014. He is appointed at the WTDC-14 (Dubai) in March-April, 2014 as Vice Chair of ITU-D Study Group 1 dealing with various study questions including Telecommunications/ICTs for rural and remote areas. He was Professor for Department of Emergency and Critical Care Medicine in Nakajima Laboratory of Tokai University, Kanagawa Prefecture Japan, for 2002-2005.

-End-