

Mr. Pavel Mamchenkov

Throughout the whole period of professional career Mr. Pavel Mamchenkov is directly involved in regulation, development, operation, and researches of the latest advances in telecommunication with the emphasis on radiocommunications. The primary area of expertise is spectrum management in government and private sector including socio-economic trends in telecommunications on global, regional and national basis. The comprehensive experience in spectrum management area is focused on development of strategies, implementation of economic aspects in regulation, spectrum re-allocation and re-farming, spectrum sharing as well as spectrum pricing and other related topics.

Experience and Competencies

26 years of professional engagement in telecommunications, radiocommunications, and spectrum management, of which twelve years of research and analysis practice with R&D centres, seven years of regulatory practice with the Telecommunication Administration, and seven years of operational spectrum planning with mobile operator company.

More than 18 years of participation in ITU activities resulting in the strong knowledge of spectrum regulatory procedures, allocation methods, legal instruments, software tools and issues at the international level. The qualified ITU expert. Six ITU-D missions on Spectrum Management and ICT Development in developing countries to carry out surveys of national spectrum regulatory institutions, and development of spectrum management master-plans.