

Pedro Seixas

Pedro Seixas is a highly experienced management and regulatory consultant. He has over 23 years of experience in consulting on business strategy and regulation for companies in the telecommunications, banking, and information systems industries, including regulators and service providers, as well as financial investors in these industries.

Pedro combines regulatory experience with market analysis and due diligence work for telecom operators and private equity investors both in the fixed and mobile segments. His activities have had international components, covering markets and competitors in the regions of Africa, South America, Europe, and Middle East. He has also dealt with basic questions of organization and management in the context of large organizations and markets.

At present Pedro is an Associate with Incyte Consulting. Previously he has worked with Arthur D. Little's Singapore and Lisbon offices in telecommunications projects, and was a Senior Manager with Deloitte Consulting as a member of the Telecommunications and Media practice. Additional consulting experience was previously acquired with Roland Berger & Partners office of Lisbon.