

Mr. Ryan Spanier is the Director of Global Research for Kudelski Security (KS).

Mr. Spanier has many years of experience leading innovation-focused research teams across a variety of information security domains.

His expertise areas include Security Operations Center design, threat intelligence, and network forensics.

Prior to joining Kudelski Security, Mr. Spanier lead the threat intelligence group for the Georgia Tech Research Institute.

He has a Masters in Information Security from the Georgia Institute of Technology and is a Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP).