What is Type Approval And why is Necessary?

Terminals Telecommunication Equipment Constitute the main equipment used in Telecom for the exchange Of information to distance.
By this fact The use of those equipment must :
- Respect the security of the users
- Ensure the health of the population
- Apply the requirement protection in the Electromagnetic Compatibility Fields
- Use with Efficiency the Spectrum spectre in order to avoid Interferences

Therefore, from the Conception to the manufacture of those equipment it's urgent that they make some specific test in order to verify the conformity of them according to the established Norms .

Future Plans

Actually we are in Contact with the Haitian Office of Standardization which is the entity of the Haitian Government in Charge of the standards applicabe to various sector including the Telecom Sector. Also we are very available and willing to work with ITU in this profitable project that's why we participated in May last at Campinas (Brazil) to the first event organised this year for this project.
