

Alex Becerra (BSc)

Chilean citizen, Electrical Engineer from University of Chile. Has been involved in satellite projects since he obtained his engineer's degree. He is the leader of the SUCHAI project, the first Chilean nanosatellite to be launched in 2016. Since 2010, he has worked in areas like project management, leadership and also technical tasks like PCB design, Communication System design and test, payload design and integration and software development. He is co-founder and CEO of Aurora Space.