Title: Toward the automation of cybersecurity operations using machine learning techniques

Abstract:

In this talk, our latest R&D topics on the use of AI techniques for cybersecurity will be presented.

With AI techniques, we have been working on the automation of security operations using the dataset we have accumulated until now by ourselves.

The topics include malware analysis, traffic analysis, and priority determination.