How AR and VR are Shaping the Future of Communications

Abstract:

As more and more applications in Augmented and Virtual Reality enter our lives for gaming, education, marketing and more, how has this impacted the other facets of our everyday lives for work and play - such as travel and even communications?
Find out - in this session as we look towards the advancement of AR and VR for networking, multi-users and what's to come!