

Abstract

- This talk briefly introduces recent activities on trusted ICT infrastructures and services in Q16/13. It covers several topics such as trust-based media services, trustworthy networking and trust index, etc. Based on this, it identifies important roles of trust in technology convergence for future standardization, considering emerging technology trends in the various fields of 5G, cloud computing, AI and related services.