Creating an ITU user account for non-members to engage in the work of FG-AI4EE

How to get started

An ITU user account is required to participate in the work of the ITU-T Focus Group on Environmental Efficiency for Artificial Intelligence and other Emerging Technologies (FG-AI4EE). Anyone who is from a country that is a member of ITU may create an ITU user account in order to register for events, access documents/resources and subscribe to mailing lists for the focus group.

Not an ITU member? Don't have an account?

1. Visit the ITU user account creation webpage and select "I am a new user".
2. Select "Media and Other Organizations".
3. Click "Create".
4. You will then be guided through the process of providing contact information. Once completed, you will receive an e-mail requesting you to activate your ITU user account.

The screenshot shows the ITU user account creation interface. At the top, it says "WELCOME" and "Logon". Below "Logon", there are two radio button options: "I already have a User Account" and "I am a new user". A red circle with the number "1" is around the "I am a new user" option, and a red box highlights it. Below "Logon" is the text "Create a User Account". Underneath, it says "Create your user Account as:" followed by two sections: "ITU STATUS MEMBERS" and "NON ITU MEMBERS". Under "ITU STATUS MEMBERS", there are several radio button options: "Member State", "Resolution 99", "United Nations, Specialized agency, IAEA", "Sector Member", "Associate", "Academia, University, Research Establishment", and "International/Regional Organizations". A red circle with the number "2" is around the "NON ITU MEMBERS" section, and a red box highlights the "Media and Other Organizations" option. At the bottom left, there is a green "Create" button. A red circle with the number "3" is around the "Create" button.
