Mizan II is an integrated case management system for courts, facilitating management of cases, court filing and evidence storage, linking courts, relevant ministries, enforcement, corrections and financial institutions, with direct access for lawyers and the public. It was created from the partnership between The Palestinian High Judicial Council and UNDP and was funded by different donors in support of access to justice. The idea originated when it was noted that courts were working in silos, with each court applying different procedures to case registration and handling. Introducing an electronic case management system helped in unifying the procedures between courts, and across all courts levels.
