

International Telecommunication Union

TDR -Service and Operational Requirements

Les Homan

Inmarsat - Rapporteur ITU-T Q3/2

Service and Operational Requirements

- WHAT ?
- A clear and concise description of what is needed and how it should operate

- WHY ?
- To create a common understanding and standards which will permit national systems to operate with each other

Service and Operational Requirements

- o Where
- o At the ITU - the specialised agency for Government telecommunications relations
- o Specifically the T Sector for Public International Telecommunications

Service and Operational Requirements

- o HOW
- o Sensitive Issue
- o Discuss the principles of the requirement
- o NO disclosure with regard to existing or planned national implementations
- o Create an international framework to facilitate bilateral arrangements

Service and Operational Requirements

Summary - TDR

- o The concept of providing authorities dealing with disaster relief operations priority access to international public telecommunications and priority call completion
- o Is it needed ?
- o Some Member States clearly think so.
- o The main aim of this workshop is to increase the awareness of the topic

Service and Operational Requirements

- o Summary continued
- o Why the ITU
- o This is THE FORUM in which Member States discuss issues relating to International Telecommunications