Subject: ITU Asia Pacific Centres of Excellence Training Workshop and ITU Regional Workshop on "Transition from Analogue to Digital Terrestrial Television Broadcasting", 27 February–2 March 2012, Bangkok, Thailand

Dear Sir / Madam,

Due to severe flooding situation in Bangkok which has affected our event in November 2011, I am pleased to invite, once again, your organization to participate in the ITU Asia Pacific Centres of Excellence Training Workshop (27 February–1 March 2012) and the ITU Asia-Pacific Regional Workshop (2 March 2012) on "Transition from Analogue to Digital Terrestrial Television Broadcasting (DTTB)", scheduled in Bangkok, Thailand. These events are organized by the International Telecommunication Union (ITU), National Broadcasting and Telecommunications Commission (NBTC), Asia-Pacific Broadcasting Union (ABU) and Asia-Pacific Institute for Broadcasting Development (AIBD) with support from Korea Communications Commission (KCC).

The ITU ASP COE Training Workshop (27 February–1 March 2012) aims to build knowledge on the status of DTTB migration in the Asia-Pacific region, country experiences on building national roadmaps for transition to DTTB, migration experiences for various digital terrestrial television standards and international practices on the Digital Dividend while imparting skills on the development of national roadmaps for the transition to DTTB and planning Analogue Switch Off (ASO). The training course will provide participants with necessary theoretical background, practical experiences, concrete exercises and hands-on practice so that they develop an in-depth understanding of the key strategic issues involved in this area. The provisional agenda is attached (Annex 1 (a)).

The Asia-Pacific Regional Workshop (2 March 2012) aims to discuss the recently developed guidelines for carrying out a smooth transition from analogue to digital broadcasting in the Asia-Pacific region, share experiences of countries on developing national roadmaps and brainstorm on the way forward in its implementation. The provisional agenda of the workshop is attached (Annex 1(b)).

The ITU ASP COE Training Workshop and the Regional Workshop are addressed to Policy Makers, Regulators, Broadcast Engineers, Corporate Executives and Managers, Administrators and Officials dealing with migration from analogue to digital broadcasting.
